

LTSC June 2020 Newsletter

Contractor Certification:

This project has now been completed and Contractor Certification is ready for rollout; unfortunately, due to the current environment, holding a Roadshow to release details to our members is not possible. In lieu of a Roadshow the LTSC is developing an Instruction manual which we will circulate, this will outline the project, how the process is managed and how you get on board and become a “Certified Contractor” in the Log Transport Industry.

We have had a few operators sign up already and at the AGM we will be presenting the first Contractor Certification certificate to Steve Murphy from SML (Steve Murphy Ltd) who has successfully completed the process, well done SML.

Sleep Apnoea

A reminder that LTSC has a program and testing equipment available to all members to start the process of testing for sleep apnoea. Please make use of this opportunity as it may prevent a serious incident or accident within your company.

Sleep Apnoea is totally treatable and once affected people are treated for it, the changes to their life will only have positive effects, not only on them but their families and your business also.

A reminder to use the video on the LTSC website at staff meetings or safety meetings or even individually to show that anyone can be affected but there are only positive results from being tested.

The Sleep Apnoea video will now be part of Jeff Fluery's Rollover prevention workshops that are held around the Country.

Industry Standard Booklet:

The revised booklet is now available on the LTSC website, under Industry Standards, members are able to download this for use in your Business. At this stage the LTSC will not be making printed booklets available, due to the high cost of printing approx. 3000 booklets.
